

Here, There Around Town

By Local Observer

In the name of progress, each small town loses many of its most pleasant associations. At council on Monday night the passing of Duncan's field, a playground for the children of the north end of Newmarket for several generations, was mourned by the oldtimers on council.

With the completion of the present transactions involving Duncan's field, the property will likely become the site for several new homes. "Too bad," sighed the mayor. "We had a lot of fun there as kids. Many's the time I roamed down that hill."

"Yes, it was always the spot where we took our sleighs," reminisced another. Someone else recalled that it was at Duncan's field that he'd skinned his nose when his sled had come to an unexpected stop. With a sigh for those "good old days," council returned to the more pressing matters of the day.

Local Observer made "Neighborhood News," a weekly radio program aired on Sunday following the 10 a.m. news broadcast from C.B.C. Conducted by Don Fairbairn, this program deals with human interest stories in "those important parts of Ontario and Quebec which lie outside the cities."

The story about the shopper who had purchased a hand bag in Mexico was told on the April 12 broadcast, taken from the April 9 issue of the Era. It was used again during the week on another program from C.F.R.B., Toronto.

Local Observer was pleased that the story was considered sufficiently interesting to warrant its retelling. Thank you, Mr. Fairbairn.

The annual C.N.I.B. tag day in Newmarket will be held on Saturday, May 2, or as one councillor phrased it, "on the day after the trout season opens."

Further thanks were received by the Newmarket council for the generous support given by local residents to the overseas flood victims. Newmarket has established an enviable reputation as the Good Samaritan.

Prior to the Easter season, Local Observer, with the majority of Newmarket townfolk, watched with interest the two white bunnies in Dawson's store window. Each trip down town we would hasten to the window to count the rabbits. In great disbelief we saw that there were still only two.

Seems that there are more than some grade four pupils who are having trouble with their multiplications. Oh well, in this mechanical age, why multiply when you can use a calculator machine.

Last week, Local Observer told of the chance meeting of two local residents with several other Home and School delegates at the annual convention at the Royal York hotel, Toronto, all of whom knew or were related to Newmarket families. A further coincidence occurred to Mrs. Ion on that afternoon.

In the corridor she met a woman who had attended Dalhousie university, Halifax, with her. They hadn't seen one another for over ten years and after the first few minutes of bringing each other up to date, Mrs. Sunderland who teaches school in Ottawa said, "So, you're living in Newmarket now. That's strange. I have a youngster in my grade one class whose family came from Newmarket last fall. He's Jeff Meyer. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer. Would you know them?"

Beaches' Metropolitan Plan? One Cottager Wants It

Now that Toronto and its suburbs are to have a metropolitan government, the city cottage owners may be thinking of their own little metropolitan government among the thousands of summer ratepayers who own cottages on Lake Simcoe. At least that is the way one owner would have it.

Miss Lillian Upper whose cottage at Eastbourne, Lake Simcoe, was broken into during the winter, was complaining that police were not paying enough attention to the break-in.

Said Miss Upper, "Many of the summer people feel that they are not getting value for their tax money and would like to go about having their own governing body set up, similar to the new Toronto metropolitan area, with a summer resident at its head."

Miss Upper's cottage is in North Gwillimbury township. At the present time, only residents

$ MILLION BUSINESS

Customs Office Statistics

Indication Of Growth In Industrial, Trading Area

There is a million dollar business in Newmarket which few people take much notice of; in fact some people don't know it exists. The Canada Customs office, located on the top floor of the post office building on Main St. did a million dollar business during this past customs year.

To get down to details, it was $1,141,784.22 worth of business that the customs office did in its year ending March 31, 1953. Import duties, sales tax collections, licences and other items which total this figure, give some indication of the importance of Newmarket as a manufacturing town and the centre of a large trading area.

Increase in 1953

The customs office saw a large increase in business during the past year, an increase of $114,683.54 over the previous year's total of $1,030,100.68.

There are now 58 licensed manufacturers under the survey of the Newmarket office who make sales tax returns to the office. Newmarket is the port of entry for imported goods going to a wide district, north as far as Belle Ewart and south as far as King City, east as far as Mount Albert and west to Schomberg.

A good customs service and an efficient clearing of goods is important to any industry and it is one asset for the town which Newmarket officials can tell industrial representatives who are looking at the town or district for a new plant site.

Imported Vegetables

Ten carloads of fresh fruits and vegetables have come into this area since the first of April, from the southern United States. Importing of fruits and vegetables in the non-producing season here has become big business. The storage business in the Holland Marsh and Bradford area has become as important as the harvesting of the local crops.

Thousands of dollars have been invested in the Bradford area for storage plants and equipment. The storage facilities handle the local crop in the summer and fall but to put the investment to further use in winter months, storage plant owners import from the United States.

There is now a marked increase in the amount of imported fruits and vegetables. The rate of import duty changes from season to season with the lower duty charges being in the winter months when the Bradford storage people import their goods. The Canadian government offers protection to the local growers by imposing a higher rate on imports during the summer and fall producing season.

Third Man

Large quantities of ducks and baby chicks for specialized farms and processing plants are also imported here. Customs business has increased so much over the past two years that a third officer has been employed at Newmarket.

The present staff includes Max Boag, who is in charge of the office, and two officers, Nelson Ion and John McGrath. Mr. McGrath is the third man who has been brought in recently.

Examining officers make daily visits to the Aurora and Newmarket railway freight sheds to examine incoming goods. Their who live in the township all year round may serve on the township council.

More Break-ins

Another series of break-ins began again in the cottage area over last weekend. The summer home of Mrs. J. C. Urquhart, Island Grove, was entered by someone forcing a window and inner screen. In this case, the York county police fingerprint expert was called in and it is believed that good prints were obtained.

Constable Grant Thompson of the North Gwillimbury police, investigating the case, said that evidence at Miss Lillian Upper's cottage had been disturbed before the arrival of the police.

Miss Upper lost bedding, electrical appliances and a number of other items. She says the township police have not paid enough attention to her break-in which took place during the winter and which was reported early in March.

ARREST BROTHERS DURING THEFTS AT LAKE WILCOX STORE

Garfield Cripp, 34, no address, and his brother Harvey Cripp, 24, Eglinton Ave., Toronto, were arrested by Constables E. Forrester and James Stewart of the Vondorf provincial police detachment at Lake Wilcox Saturday night. They were charged with breaking and entering the Davison store at the lake.

The men also were charged for having stolen canned goods, vegetables and a couple of bags of cleaned clothing from the back of the store. The goods were found in a panel truck belonging to their younger brother, 150 yards away from the store after 8.30 p.m.

Mrs. Davison was upstairs in her living apartment at the time of the theft. She said she thought the clerk was busy in the store at that time of night and was unaware that anything unusual was happening.

COURT OF REVISION

A court of revision will hear appeals from Newmarket taxpayers on May 5. Appeals on local improvement assessments on a number of streets in Newmarket will be heard on this date.

Each boat owner is given a copy of the safety requirements under the Canada shipping act. His boat must be in a safe condition and carry proper fire extinguisher equipment.

Open Meeting Monday To Inform Citizens Of Main St. Program

An open meeting will be held at the Newmarket council chambers next Monday night at 8 p.m. to inform citizens of the plans and policy for new construction of Main St. pavement and sidewalks. According to the town engineer, work will start in the last week of April.

Sections of the Main St. will be blocked off at various times during the construction which will continue through the summer months.

Members of council and the engineer will inform property owners, tenants and any other interested citizens of the program and how it will affect property and business.

Oppose Decision This Year For New County Building

Reps. 'Know Nothing' About County Seat Arrangements

Newmarket's mayor, Joseph Vale, warns against a decision by the northern municipalities of York County to acquire property for a new York County building. At a meeting of council on Monday night, the mayor said that in his opinion, it would be a mistake for the county to acquire property at the present time for a building.

"The new county should not make a decision about a building for another couple of years," said the mayor, "the reason being that no one knows anything about the function of the new county nor about its finances."

The Newmarket council had a down-to-earth discussion about the location of the county seat and about the attempts of the town of Aurora to encourage the location of the county seat there.

The discussion was opened when Deputy-Reeve Herbert Gladman told council that he had received a copy of amendments to Bill 80. Bill 80 is the provincial legislation which will authorize the formation of a metropolitan area of Toronto and its suburbs and the reduction of York County to 14 municipalities, including Markham and Vaughan townships and all municipalities north of them.

"There is only one small paragraph which mentions the northern municipalities and it only loosely refers to financial settlements which might be made between the county and the metropolitan area," he said.

Revenues from taxation will be cut down when the metropolitan municipalities are removed from the county but upkeep of the greater part of the county road system will continue to be the county's responsibility.

Know Nothing

Both Reeve Arthur Evans and Deputy-Reeve Gladman, Newmarket's representatives on county council, said that "nobody seems to know what is going to happen". As for the location of the county seat, no one seems to know how it is to be done, whether it will be decided by the entire county council as it stands at present, by only the northern municipalities which will constitute the new county or by the provincial government.

Councillor Joseph Dales said that Newmarket council should show a little more interest in the county seat. Reeve Evans said that Newmarket should not act in an aggressive manner, that some of the municipal representatives in the northern part of the county "think that Newmarket gets everything".

Reeve Evans quoted one municipal representative as saying, "You know what they say about Toronto," and that he referred to the old expression about Toronto being "hog town". Some people say the same about Newmarket, according to the representative.

"Is the present county council going to make the recommendation for the county seat or is the north part of the county?" asked Councillor Dales.

"Nobody knows anything about it," Deputy-Reeve Gladman said. "I don't think the county should make a definite decision on property for a county building," said the mayor. "As far as temporary accommodation goes, there is no better place than Newmarket. County council is probably under great pressure to take this school building at Aurora but I think that it would be acting too hastily to accept any permanent arrangement. The auditorium in our new fire hall building would provide excellent temporary headquarters and adequate parking could be provided," said the mayor.

"An Aurora Man"

"How much effect has the lobbying of the Warden in county council?" asked Councillor Dales.

"I wouldn't know," said the mayor. "Although there are advantages in the county seat being at Newmarket, Mr. Cook, the Warden, has his loyalties in Aurora, his home town. His loyalties should be with the northern part of the county as well as Aurora."

Reeve Evans said that the only body representing the county which could possibly be taking any action is a committee of seven county councillors appointed by Warden Cook. "How much power the committee has, I don't know," he said. Mr. Evans said that he told the committee Newmarket did not have an old school available but that "when it wanted to do business, the town would have something."

Newmarket has no representative on the committee which Mr. Cook appointed.

"What's the job of this Warden-appointed committee?" asked Mr. Dales.

"Just to keep in touch with developments about the metropolitan scheme," the reeve said. "It's supposed to look after the interest of the 14 northern municipalities while the metropolitan plan shapes up," said Deputy-Reeve Gladman.

"Is this committee going to deal with the county seat?" asked Councillor Dales.

"That's what they tell me," said the reeve.

"I can't see that it's a matter of Newmarket getting a 'plum' by having the county seat here," Mr. Dales said. "It's more a matter of geographical convenience that it should be here. I'm wondering if our policy of passive resistance is doing any good. Maybe the representatives of the north don't see the merits of Newmarket being the county seat because we are not saying anything about it to them."

It seems to me that the Warden who is strictly an Aurora man, is trying to keep this issue in the background long enough to give him enough time to do sufficient lobbying for Aurora. There has been no official overture made by Newmarket yet," Mr. Dales added.

HOME EC. STUDENTS AT HIGH SCHOOL PLAN FASHION SHOW

A fashion show will be presented in the Newmarket high school auditorium on Friday, April 24, 8.15 p.m., under the direction of Miss Margery Gardiner, home economics teacher for the school. Participating in the fashion show will be about 100 girls, students from grades 9, 10 and 11 who are attending the home economics courses conducted in the Newmarket high school.

Last year the course was opened in the two junior grades with its inclusion in the curriculum for grade 11 this year. In 1954 it is planned that a home economics section will be available to students in grade 12 as well.

In the fashion show the girls will present garments which they have made in their home economics classes. It is a general procedure for such shows to be held wherever a home economic department is included in the high school and at the fashion show on April 24 the girls will model such items as cotton blouses, dresses and skirts, wool skirts and dresses and sports' clothes, such as slacks and shorts.

At the conclusion of the show, light refreshments, also the product of the home economic classes, will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend.

Traffic Light For Davis-Main Costs $4,000

The Newmarket town council may purchase a $4,000 traffic light for Davis Drive and Main St. intersection. The town must spend the money first and collect county and provincial contributions to the cost later.

The intersection came up for discussion on an enquiry by Mayor Vale. A by-law has already been passed to install signs to stop north and south Main St. traffic and make Davis Drive a through street but the town engineer said he was waiting for county approval before erecting the stop signs.

The cost of a treadle stop light would be around $4,000. Reeve Evans said the county and department of highways would pay part of the cost after the installation.

"We've been kicking this around for years," said the mayor. "Either we go ahead and install a stop light or we give it up entirely."

"I have maintained for the last five years that we need a light at that corner," said Councillor Paynter. "In the meantime nothing is being done and someone is going to be hurt or killed at that corner."

The mayor and most of the councillors seemed to favor the installation of a light but no action was taken.

SKETCHING TRIP

Seven members of the Newmarket Art club who spent the Easter weekend in Dorset on a sketching trip reported on the project to the group at its April 9 meeting. Those included on the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chadwick, William Hopkinson, Doug Cockburn, Miss Jean Walton and Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons.

They reported that they had been to the next council meeting. Councillor Paynter said he did not favor the licensing but wanted the subject discussed in council.

A few years ago council discussed the licensing of overhanging signs on Main St. for safety purposes. Council saw a danger in overhanging signs falling on pedestrians. The idea was abandoned because the town would be held liable for any injuries or damages if it took on legal responsibility.

A resolution for sign licensing by Councillor Wrightman and Councillor Lorne Paynter was

Organize Town Committee For Coronation Day

A meeting about Newmarket's coronation day celebrations was held Friday night and representatives of various town organizations and boards set up planning committees.

Those represented were the Canadian Legion, Newmarket Veterans' association, the R.C.A. F. association, high school board, Newmarket Art club, public school board, town council, horticultural society, separate school board, Home and School association and the Newmarket Ministerial association.

The representatives who attended were made members of the coronation day activities committee. Two special committees were also formed. The decorating committee consists of Robert Chadwick, chairman, Bill Parsons, Nelson Garret, Paul Tobey, Herbert Gladman, Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. R. B. Sturges.

The second committee, the program committee, includes Rev. James T. Rhodes, chairman, Arthur Evans and Wesley Tobey.

Plans for coronation day are being made by each organization and the representatives at the meeting expect one of the finest parades ever held in Newmarket.

Other organizations who were not represented are asked to send one or more persons to another meeting on Wednesday, April 22, at 8 p.m. in the council chambers at the town hall.

SCOUTS AND GUIDES TO CANVASS WITH CONCERT TICKETS

Tomorrow, April 17, the cubs, scouts, guides and brownies of Newmarket will conduct a house-to-house blitz in a ticket sale drive for a coming concert.

The concert which will be held in the Trinity United church on Friday, May 8, is under the auspices of the Scout-Guide Mothers' auxiliary with the proceeds going to the repair and renovation of the Newmarket Scout Hall.

Guest artists who have graciously offered their talents in support of the local Scout-Guide work include Isha Goodman, pianist, Elizabeth Beer, soprano and Terry Doane, baritone. Conveying the blitz is Mrs. C. E. Wheeland. Mrs. Alex Georgas is in charge of the concert preparations.

Newmarket residents are asked to "be prepared" to "Lend a Hand" to use the mottoes of these boys' and girls' groups, through the purchase of the concert tickets. "The town has been divided into areas with scouts and guides acting as captains. Each cub, brownie, guide and scout has been allocated a district to canvass so that the community will be covered entirely without any duplication."

REGISTER BEGINNERS FOR FALL TERM AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A registration for pupils who will attend school for the first time in the Kindergarten and Grade 1 in September will be held from 1.30 p.m. to 4.00 p.m. as follows: Stuart Scott school, Thursday, April 23; King George school, Thursday, April 23; Alexander Muir school, Friday, April 24 and Prince Charles school, Friday, April 24.

Pupils will register in the school nearest them. Distribution to schools and classrooms will be made at a later date. Proof of age must be presented at the time of registration or not later than the opening of school in the autumn.

Children for registration in the Kindergarten must be residents of the municipality of Newmarket and that section of S.S. No. 3, East Gwillimbury in union with Newmarket.

H. A. Jackson, supervising principal of Newmarket public schools, says that to facilitate the organization of classes, it is important that this registration be complete.

THURSDAY, THE SIXTEENTH DAY OF APRIL, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE

LACK RESPONSIBLE LEADERSHIP

What are they doing about the rest of York County now that this metropolitan plan is going through? That is the question more people are asking every day. The answer to the question at the present time seems to be - nothing. Members of the Newmarket council had a number of question to ask their two representatives on county council Monday night. The reeve and deputy-reeve did not have the answers and there seems to be nobody representing the northern municipalities who can provide answers.

Newmarket's county representatives cannot be blamed too much for the lack of information about the county's future. At present the only body which represents the remnants of York County is a small "watching" committee of seven men who were appointed by the Warden. So far it is a committee that just watches and says nothing. It was appointed "to keep in touch" with proceedings concerning the northern municipalities. There is a glaring absence of any representation on the committee from the town of Newmarket, the largest community in the "new" county of York. In fact one of the members of this committee represents one of the suburbs which will be included in the metropolitan federation, not in the new county.

There is a disturbing vacuum in county affairs. People in North York are reading all about what is going on in the new metropolitan area, about the formation of its new council and its inaugural meeting. The metropolitan area is delving into its new affairs with energy but nothing happens to the County of York. People up north are hearing nothing about their own affairs.

Newmarket's deputy-reeve, Herbert Gladman, said that there is more concern over prestige involved around the location of the county seat than there is about "our pocketbooks". From what Newmarket's county representatives say, predictions indicate a county tax rate jump from 6.8 to 16 mills after the metropolitan scheme takes away the southern part of the county. That certainly will affect the pocketbooks of taxpayers in the northern municipalities. The responsibility for upkeep of county and "suburban" roads will be reduced for the smaller county which will emerge from the new scheme. But when the assessment figures are examined, the county will be carrying a much heavier burden in proportion to the old county share. The north has only 10 percent of the assessment of the old county.

It seems that the north is being told what will happen by the metropolitan communities and from outward appearances there is no representation to defend the interests of the northern municipalities.

One member of the Newmarket council remarked on the lack of activity on the part of Warden Cook's seven man "watching" committee. Is it possible, he wondered, that the Warden "who is strictly an Aurora man", is trying to keep this issue in the background long enough to give him time to persuade northern representatives to give Aurora the county seat? If the councillor's suspicions are true, much time is being wasted over a county seat at the expense of the county itself. If this is so, then the northern municipalities are adrift in the meantime, lacking responsible leadership.

POLITICS IN THE ROUGH

Affairs of the county of York (reduced version) which concern 14 municipalities north of the federating metropolitan communities, up to now, have been "under the table". Aurora's bid for the county seat is known from one end of the county to the other. The bid is unofficial only because it has not been made over a council table, at least not at an open meeting.

Affairs which concern the new county of York were put on top of the table at a regular meeting of Newmarket council Monday night. For all to hear, the council had a frank discussion about the county seat. No one can deny a natural interest among the members of Newmarket council in the location of the county headquarters. But some members of council, particularly the county representatives, shy from being aggressive about seeking the county town status for a curious reason. They don't wish to give the impression that Newmarket is "hogging everything".

From what Newmarket representatives say, there are municipal people in the county who think that Newmarket has had its share of the county limelight in the past. Newmarket has had a number of county wardens and a number of county buildings are located in the town. Some representatives, particularly in the northern part of the county, are said to favor Aurora because Newmarket has had its share. In the political circle, where personalities count as much as common sense, situations like this do occur.

It is time that the members of county council forget about personalities and political patronage and employed more logic with their reasonings.

Newmarket is the centre of a large trading area, has a number of county offices, the health unit headquarters, the only hospital in the county, government customs offices, county registry office and more business and industrial facilities than any other community in the north part of the county. Is that a good reason to call it a "hog town"? Newmarket residents probably have never thought of it that way. Apparently others do.

Newmarket is a progressive town. More and more, its citizens are realizing they have a civic responsibility, not only to the town but to the entire district and its people with whom they carry on friendly business and social relations. There is proof of this increasing attention to citizenship by the formation of a ratepayers' association and an active chamber of commerce with a sincere and healthy purpose.

Persons will hold to their political jealousies and will find they have obligations concerning political patronage. If Newmarket does not become the county town, it will be because of these intangibles which have always been associated with county politics. One prominent municipal figure in Newmarket once said, "At county council you will find politics in the rough". Standing on its own merits and because it is the largest and most central community in the new county, Newmarket should become the county town. But in county council you will find politics in the rough and Newmarket's merits may not be considered.

INDIVIDUAL CITIZENSHIP

"You who are the lay volunteers, you who are free men and women, represent the unofficial government," says Professor Alan F. Klein, of the school of social work, University of Toronto. The citizens of the community constitute a kind of town council that makes decisions and stimulates and checks the government in a way that is vital to the health of the community, Professor Klein says.

In our society we expect people to do this because free men are interested in fraternity, equality and liberty. They care what happens to other people. They are responsible citizens. They have educated hearts.

When the people have nothing to do with the problems of the community and take no responsibility for meeting their own need, we will lose our democracy. Take away the responsibility of individual citizenship and democracy and freedom will disappear.

Democracy demands effort, a vital spirit striving for a better life. It does not thrive in sloth and indifference nor in the worship of comfort, passive entertainment, indolence and a renouncing of responsibility.

CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY

The activities of the Canadian Cancer Society are increasing as a greater effort is being made to help educate people about the disease and to contribute funds for cancer research and treatment. An active branch in Aurora is encouraging more people to help the cause in the districts around Aurora and Newmarket. Over $100 was raised recently when a tea was held in Newmarket at the home of Mrs. R. E. K. Rourke. Contributions may be continued and they will be accepted at any of the banks in Newmarket.

The honorary president of the society, Viscount Alexander, referred to "the patient research over the past 50 years which has been rewarded by great advances in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. To be most effective, however, treatment must be given early. The main object of the lay educational program of the Canadian Cancer Society is to inform our people of this fact. By such means, the hope of recovery in the many accessible types of cancer may be increased.

"In cancer, as with all illnesses of a chronic nature, the patient and his or her dependents may have to face a problem of social welfare. A helping hand may be needed to provide sick room supplies, family care or transportation to and from clinics. These and other items of service are tangible contributions being made by the many voluntary workers co-operating with the Canadian Cancer society in our Canadian communities."

Cuttin' Corners municipal council wound up with a two dollar surplus when the year's auditor's report was given at the last meeting. Auditor Juglem presented his report at a full meeting.

"Let me offer my congratulations to council on the very good budgeting and handling of municipal financial affairs during 1952," said Auditor Juglem. "Council came out close. It was almost a photo finish."

Councillors carelessly leafed through the ten page auditor's report and no one seemed to say anything for a while, each still thinking over the excellent job he had done.

Then Councillor Colin DeHoggs rose to his feet and with a municipal frown, said, "These here audits is fine I guess but I don't understand figures."

"There was an embarrassed shuffling of feet under the council table and seven coughs. DeHoggs always had a habit of opening his mouth at the wrong time and touching on sore spots."

"For that matter," continued DeHoggs, "these her audits is expensive and we don't even know what we are gettin' fer our money. There was a time when this here town was run without all these new-fangled customs."

"Looks like we should send DeHoggs there to a business school before the next election," cackled Reeve Holland Rivers. "If the public hears of this, he's doomed at the polls." There was a roar from the chambers. DeHoggs was furious.

"Speaking of figures," said Mayor Maynott, "I as mayor, have appointed a special committee of which I hereby name Councillor DeHoggs chairman. As you know, the community is holding a Pickled Thimbleberry festival during July and the onerous duty which has been passed on to council is to choose Miss Pickled Thimbleberry for 1953."

"Since DeHoggs here does not care for the type of figures in this report, maybe he will be better for a committee appointment of this nature."

According to Slim Bilggen, our Cuttin' Corners correspondent, many young girls from prominent district families have already submitted their names as entries for the Miss Pickled Thimbleberry for 1953 contest. "Some ain't no beauties," declares Slim.

It will be interesting to see DeHoggs lose votes in the selection of the local beauty. "He'll squirm," says Slim.

The Top Six Inches by "Dairy Farmer"

We heard a very able presentation of arguments on behalf of the dairy producers the other day. It was done by Mr. Gilbert McMillan, president of the dairy farmers of Canada. It was a summing up of all the factors involved in a moderate and reasonable way and it is our hope that it was this attitude of cool thinking and quiet reasoning that carried the day for the dairy producers.

This address was too long to even condense in a brief column but there are a few arguments which we would like to repeat because they seem to be the crux of the matter. First is the statement that the dairy farmers' insistence on some measure of favorable consideration is basically the protection expected for the fact that they are part of a country in the northern part of the hemisphere.

In other words, we want protection from tropical products the same as labor in this country has protection from cheap Asiatic labor. If one thinks it right through, this country couldn't exist if groups making up its population, wouldn't be given assurance that they would be protected against products which are grown under very much cheaper circumstances and conditions. We cannot just give up the one part of the population that for years has carried part of the load and expect anything but a social upheaval that would hurt everybody.

The second argument, equally strong, is that a lot of the land and farming that today produces dairy products couldn't switch over to any other type of farming and that unless it produces dairy products it would be abandoned. To get some time ago we read that the C.C.F. at its convention in this province adopted a resolution urging the free sale of substitutes and also urged a special investigation into the problem facing the dairy industry.

We felt then that this resolution was designed to be a vote catcher and never thought much more about it. In view of Mr. McMillan's remarks we feel even more keenly that this party that had so much support from the farmers is betraying us now and we were very disappointed that it didn't use its influence to educate labor and to put forth our point and what we would consider the long range view in front of them.

Dairying is the third largest industry in this country. In courting the reluctant maiden, the C.C.F. is forgetting the home-town sweetheart.

DUTIES RESUMED DESPITE HEAVY HEART

Fulfilling her first official engagement since the death of her grandmother, Dowager Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, is seen leaving St. Paul's cathedral following distribution of maundy money to 40 representatives of London's aged in an Easter ceremony of royal humility. This age-old annual ceremony of penance and charity dates back to the 12th century, when British monarchs, on the day before Good Friday, washed the feet of the poor after the example of Christ with His disciples. Each woman was given $4.50 in a green purse, and each man a white purse containing $6.30. This was for clothes. The Queen then walked among the poor a second time, giving each a red purse with $7 for food. Finally she distributed white purses containing the special silver Maundy coins which for the first time this year bore the imprint of her head.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

HMCS Haida, famous fighting destroyer of the Second World War, is adding another chapter to her record as she carries out her first tour of operations in the Korean theatre. Among her exploits has been the destruction of a train behind the enemy lines in North Korea. This recent photo of the Haida was taken from another Canadian destroyer, the Crusader, as the former arrived in a patrol area off the west coast of Korea.

The Queen's Busy Day

By Dennis Bardsen

In her triple role of Monarch, wife and mother, Queen Elizabeth II is today one of the busiest people in the world.

It could be said that all lines of communication in an Empire covering nearly a quarter of the world's land surface meet at a central point known as Buckingham Palace. The Queen is not only the personification of the state. In law she is the supreme authority, an integral part of the legislature. This makes her the head of the judiciary in England and Wales, and Scotland, head of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the sole representative of the nation in international affairs.

Of course, in process of history, many of these prerogatives have become restricted. Today the Queen acts on the advice of her ministers, advice which she cannot constitutionally ignore. And the supreme legislative authority is the House of Commons and the House of Lords which between them represent all elements of the nation.

But this does not mean that the Queen's duties are nominal; far from it. They are onerous and they are important. The Queen resigns, if she does not rule. She summons, she proclaims and she dissolves parliament; she opens the new session with a speech from the throne; a Bill which has been passed by both legislative houses requires her consent before it becomes law.

The jurisdictions of the courts derive from her; she makes appointments of peers, knights, knights and suchlike honors; as head of the established Church of England she is concerned with the appointments within it. Her approval is required for a minister to assume office of a cabinet to be formed.

Add to these duties of the Queen the manifold demands of participation in the ceremonial and public life of the nation, and one sees, to quote Mrs. Roosevelt, how heavy a burden lies on such young shoulders.

The Queen's diary is invariably crowded. Britain's new ambassador to Turkey must be received before departing to take up his office. India's new High Commissioner in London must be received. The president and secretary call to submit the business of the Royal Academy of Arts.

A host of official documents must be examined; the cabinet agenda, the contents of those red-leather covered despatch boxes from the foreign office; the minutes and proceedings of defence committees. There will be correspondence or visits from her personal representatives abroad such as ambassadors and governors-general. The state documents which go to the Prime Minister go also to the Queen and she has already astonished those about her by her ready grasp of essentials.

These constitutional duties are not purely formal because if things are done in the name of the Queen, she must keep well informed about them. Every day, for instance, she reads a detailed summary of the Commonwealth newspapers.

Documents are usually dealt with in the morning. The Queen sees her private secretary as soon as she has read the newspapers, consults cabinet papers and then goes over the business of the day. Various other documents come for consideration and then correspondence is answered. There is Hansard, the verbatim proceedings of the House of Commons and the House of Lords to be read. There will be appeals from municipalities, charities and public institutions of all kinds, hoping that she can grace their proceedings.

At lunch there is usually some important visitor. Afterwards there may be public duties, often necessitating a long journey by train. There may be discussions with Keeper of the Privy Purse on the details of management of the Royal estates. There are details of the Coronation to discuss with the Earl Marshal of England; perhaps the new designs for postage stamps or the new coinage will have to be examined, or the arrangements for some state function approved.

Correspondence is often very heavy and Buckingham Palace has, naturally enough, its own post office. And on special occasions, such as the death of King George VI, the incoming mail can be enormous; on that occasion over 15,000 letters and telegrams were received in a single day.

The duties of a Monarch have increased immensely during the last 50 years, mainly because participation in public life as distinct from constitutional and ceremonial life, has grown as civilization has become more complex. Remembering the strain to which the late King was subject and with an uneasy feeling that his uncomplaining acceptance of heavy burdens may have blinded us to the fact that they were too heavy, even for a robust man, hopes have been expressed that moderation will be shown in public demands upon the Queen.

The Queen, however, has tak-

Mr. Dwight L. Moody who was one of the greatest Gospel preachers of his day tells of the wonderful joy that pervaded his whole being when he first learned the true meaning of the Grace of God. He was so overjoyed that to the first person he met he cried, "Have you heard of Grace?"

The stranger stared and asked, "Grace who?"

"Oh, the Grace of God," replied Moody and went on to explain the marvels of God's Grace.

There are a lot of trite sayings which are not too intelligent but sometimes one gets some help from the more orderly ones and here is one that pretty well tells the story of the Grace of God: "Unmerited favor of God's riches at Christ's expense." Grace is the love of God for the unlovely, the goodness of God for the unrighteous and the mercy of God for those who deserve no mercy. The Grace of God saves the sinner from his sin and sustains the saint in a walk of holiness day by day.

Grace is the exact opposite of law. Law demands and supplies no strength to meet the demand. Law is limited to man's ability to keep it. Law has no compelling principle to make man abide by its tenets. There is a penalty for breaking the law but even the penalty fails to beget a desire to keep it.

The case against the law is that it leaves man helpless and alone in his misery. But Grace saves and supplies a new principle of life. Grace supplies everything needful to live a happy and a useful life. Grace even supplies life itself. When a man trusts God and believes the record that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself, he becomes the recipient of a new life, eternal life.

This life is a gift of Grace. In this wonderful experience of the new birth we find ourselves in a new relationship with God. We can now cry Abba Father! in the realization that we are the sons of God by Grace. Grace is that provision of God for underserving man that brings him into a new life and sustains him in that life until the Glory dawns.

Marvelous, infinite, matchless Grace, Freely bestowed on all who believe; You that are longing to see His face, Will you this moment His Grace receive?

JACK SMITH WRITES

Ottawa Letter

A weekly letter from the member of parliament for York North.

The new approach to world problems by Stalin's successors in Moscow is welcomed here as in other national capitals but while it is welcomed, it is nevertheless received with caution and subjected to the most careful study and consideration. In a word the free world is delighted at the prospect of better relations with Russia but we've got to be very sure they really mean it and are willing to back up words with constructive action.

It has been Canada's policy to seek settlement of the conflict in Korea by peaceful negotiation and we have constantly tried to prevent any extension of that war beyond the borders of Korea. Therefore Canada of course, as every other free nation, welcomes any proposals which have as an objective, the winning of peace.

Hon. Lester B. Pearson spoke for the government and, I am sure, for the House and the people of Canada when he said the new proposals from Russia would be examined closely and with good will. The Secretary of State made the significant observation that he considered recent developments as hopeful. From the president of the United Nations organizations and one so experienced in world affairs this comment is encouraging.

At United Nations In the international scene an important event of the week was the appointment by United Nations General Assembly of Sweden's Dag Hammarskjöld as Secretary - General. Canada's Mike Pearson had general support for this job but his nomination was vetoed by Russia. After Stalin's death Vishinsky returned to New York and let it be known that a Swede would be acceptable to the new bosses of the Kremlin.

Three Canadian cabinet ministers will fly to Paris next week to attend a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. External Affairs Minister Pearson, Finance Minister Abbott and Defence Minister Claxton will make the trip. The future program, both military and economic, will be considered with the view to still greater co-operation.

Up Yukon Way In central Canada we don't hear much about the Yukon but this week parliament passed legislation to stream-line and bring up to date the administrative machinery for this vast territory.

The Yukon territory is an area rich in natural resources. Prospecting is active and interesting discoveries are being made. It has an interesting and colorful history and the government is sparing no effort to promote its growth and development.

Population of the Yukon is just a little over 9,000 and it covers an area of some 207,000 square miles. Its affairs are administered by an elected commission of five members and the Department of Resources and Development. Last year federal expenditures amounted to $5,626,000 and revenue was $1,848,000. Some day it will be organized as another province of Canada, but population does not warrant that step at the present time.

Never Lived Out Of King Twp., Kettleby Couple Wed 50 Years

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Heacock, Kettleby, held on March 4 at their "Maple Hill" farm was attended by 165 during an afternoon and evening reception. Among the guests was Miss Constantia Fox, 94, their neighbor, who was at their wedding in 1903. Charles Walton who was a small boy when he attended the wedding with his parents, Mr. Jack Archibald, Mr. Wilfred Elliott, Bronte, and Mrs. Etha Tuson, Victoria, B.C., guests in 1903, were also present.

The reception was impressive. Six clergymen congratulated the couple. They were Rev. W. E. Smalley and wife, King City; Rev. H. B. Hardy and his daughters, Pat and Judy, Toronto; Rev. J. E. Gibson and Rev. Roy Markham, Toronto; Rev. Dr. Abbott and Mrs. Abbott, Lloydtown, and Rev. Robert Graham, Kettleby.

Congratulations were received from Canada's Prime Minister and Mr. J. E. Smith, York North member of the Federal government. Numerous cards were received and a telephone call came from the bridesmaid, Mrs. Della Andrews, Stonewall, Manitoba.

The home was adorned with numerous baskets of flowers, the central feature being 50 gold colored roses from the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Heacock. Mrs. Heacock received in silver grey crepe and lace, worn with rhinestone earrings, the gift of her husband, and a corsage of yellow and red roses. She was assisted by her husband and the daughters-in-law.

Pouring tea were Mrs. Tuson, British Columbia, the bride's cousin, and an old friend, Mrs. H. J. Charles, Aurora.

The Heacocks are proud of the fact they have never lived out of King township. Mrs. Heacock was Etta Stephenson, daughter of Major Stephenson, Schomberg, and came to the fifth line near Kettleby when a child. She attended S. S. 11 where Oscar Heacock was a pupil. He was the son of Wilfred Heacock and became a farmer at an early age. The couple were married at the bride's home by Rev. Richard Perdue, rector of Christ Anglican church.

After the reception they used their horse and buggy to travel to Aurora where they entrained for a honeymoon in Toronto. On their return, the weather was still mild and the roads were axle deep with mud. However, the 1903 spring proved cold and late.

After 35 years of farming, Mr. and Mrs. Heacock retired seven years ago, remaining in the farm house. Their son George recently built a new home on the farm which is located at the fifth concession on the Schomberg-Aurora highway.

The couple are each 78 years of age and enjoy comparative good health. They have three sons, Dudley, Schomberg, Leland and George, Kettleby, and six grandchildren. Mr. Heacock's brother, Silas, lives at Kettleby. The couple have interests in ance to Canada's development was passed this week, the authorizing federal grants of assistance to provinces for conservation of water resources. Its effects can be both far-reaching and lasting.

The conservation of natural resources within the provinces is primarily a provincial responsibility and there is no intention on the part of the federal government to invade that jurisdiction. The basic purpose of the new legislation is to enable the federal government to assist the provincial government and municipalities in carrying out conservation measures of a major character designed to conserve water resources and at the same time reduce the hazard of serious flooding and soil erosion.

The people of Canada, I am pleased to say, are becoming more and more conservation conscious. We already have come a long way from the early days of our history when our water and forest resources were depleted without thought for the future. This progress has been made through the efforts of public spirited citizens and far-sighted men and women in our farm organizations and in private industry and at all levels of government.

This new legislation will, for the first time, offer broad federal assistance on a definite the Kettleby Baptist church. About 40 years ago, Mrs. Heacock was president of a woman's organization, and her husband was one time a trustee of Kettleby school.

GUERNSEY JUDGING
A general demonstration on judging Guernseys was held at Crossland Farms, Newmarket, on March 27, with Wm. S. Brooks, Paris, Ont., acting as official judge.

A special study was made of one cow and then a class of aged cows was placed by the breeders present who numbered 45. Dr. Campbell represented the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' association. Following a most instructive session, Mr. and Mrs. Crossland, assisted by Mrs. Harold Clapp, served refreshments.

Mr. John Kudelka and Mr. Ed. Pearson expressed the thanks of the York-Simcoe club to all who contributed to the meeting.

basis for the conservation of our natural resources. The legislation is passed by your federal government with the utmost confidence that expenditures under this Bill will return great dividends to the national good of Canada in the years to come.

St. Lawrence Seaway
That Ottawa is concerned with the continued delay by our neighbor, the U.S.A., in the matter of the St. Lawrence Seaway development is a considerable under-statement.

Canada's forthright Minister of Trade and Commerce, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, this week used plain and unvarnished language in letting this fact be known in the United States.

Canada is ready to go ahead with the joint development now, or failing U.S. co-operation, is ready and anxious to proceed alone with the development which promises so much to our future prosperity. There is real hope here that technicalities soon will be ironed out and a start made on the project. Here at Ottawa everything is in readiness and every possible preliminary step has been taken. Only the red tape of international agreement remains to be cleared away.

Legumes And Grasses Help Sandy Lands Produce More

Sandy soils put to good use. Alfalfa on level land, forest cover on sloping, stony soil, with intermediate strip of mediocre soil which will be planted to conifers.

Crop yields on sandy land can often be doubled or trebled through better management, according to A. R. Albert of Wisconsin, in CROPS AND SOILS. Sandy soils suited to field crops range from medium-textured sands to fine sandy loams. Management is much the same but crop yields are higher on the heavier soils.

Wind erosion is a perennial hazard. A combination of unprotected soil, droughty conditions, and a strong wind can result in severe damage. Valuable new seedlings of legumes and grasses may be destroyed in this way. However, good protection may be obtained by establishing permanent shelterbelts of trees at 40 to 80-foot intervals or by growing different crops in 6 to 10-row strips.

The first essential of good soil management on sandy lands is to grow well-adapted legumes and legume-grass mixtures. Half or more of the plowable land on every sandy-soil farm should be in forage crops.

Alfalfa is the best all-around forage legume for well-limed sandy soils with a 6-foot or lower water table. Red clover can thrive where the water table is up to three feet and Ladino and alsike clovers are suitable for low-lying sands. All three clovers will tolerate moderate soil acidity. Sweetclover is an excellent soil-improving crop and can provide emergency pasture for well-limed soils.

Another essential in sandy soil management is adequate fertilization, especially with potassium applied before planting or while the crop is growing in the field.

Organic matter helps to "bind" sandy soils and gives them a darker color and water-holding capacity. It also provides food for soil organisms and makes commercial plant foods more efficient.

Since it is difficult to accumulate organic matter in regularly-cropped sandy soils, it must be added regularly at the lowest possible cost in the normal course of crop production through the use of such materials as animal manures, crops residues, green manure crops, peat, sawdust, garbage and sewerage.

The principal advantages of sandy soils are (1) they warm up and dry off early in the spring so can be worked earlier, (2) they are easily tilled, (3) weeds can be controlled with greater ease, and (4) rainfall enters them readily and seldom runs off.

By protecting these soils from erosion and by following a sound program of soil management, adequate fertilization and the use of high-quality seed of adapted varieties, farmers can profit by these advantages more fully and obtain a higher and more stable income from their sandy soils.

'PAPA IS ALL'

If you like to watch something that makes you sit tensely waiting developments, laughing one moment, being gripped by something approaching tragedy or just living along with people faced with a problem, then, if you weren't, you should have been at the Newmarket town hall, Friday or Saturday evening when the Dramatic Club presented "Papa Is All".

To Archie and my way of thinking, and we heard comments supporting our view as we left the hall, it was the most artistically authentic production that the Dramatic Club has so far given us and it has given some excellent ones.

The small cast was chosen with a sureness; each actor fitted the part like a glove. Besides this there was a meticulous timing and a lack of obvious prompting that made the whole production a joy to see and hear.

I have only one criticism to make; once in a while we lost a few words. We were there on Friday evening and I've no doubt that on Saturday evening this was corrected as the artists became more accustomed to the hall and its acoustics and on the whole, voice carrying and articulation were excellent. I say that with real appreciation, for not only had the actors to master their script and their acting, but they were also faced with unfamiliar idioms and they faced it like heroes and won out. And now a word about the players.

I wish I could compose a verbal bouquet worthy to present to Alma Stephens who played the part of Mama with a touch of genius that raised the whole production to a more than amateur standing. With no glamorous make-up, with a costume which to call just plain, would be an understatement, she by her facial expressions, by her hands and movements, was always the central figure in the curiously tragic family life, with its touches of comedy, lived in that Pennsylvania Dutch farm house. We sensed a strong nature kept under rigid control because she thought Papa had Bible authority even for his abuse of their children and herself.

Her delightful "Poor Papa", when Papa was supposed dead and her little gesture when she patted the telephone, also her making Mrs. Yoder sing to keep her from talking, all made the part alive. I was glad to see Nick Styke, as Jake the son, cast in a part which exactly suited him. It was a difficult part and let me say here that all the parts in this play were difficult.

This family was dominated by a sadist who used what he designated as religion for a club to make his home an ante-room of hell, and poor Nick, with the soul of a designer and inventor, thinking in Papa's absence that he could face him, yet when faced with him cowering from his cruelty, gave a most life-like and convincing presentation of what most of us would be in like circumstances. Bill Robinson as State Trooper Brendle looked the part and gave a good account of himself. He might have been a bit more dominant and yet the State Troopers, like our Mounties, are supposed to use tact and finesse so Bill was alright.

Diana Haddad as Emma, was delightful. Every emotion was depicted on what old novelists used to call "her speaking face". We all shared her rebellion at her surroundings, her longing for the attention and the pleasures other girls took as a matter of course and her passion of anger and bravery, when her mother was threatened and her terror and sorrow when she feared her mad father had killed her lover. We saw it all!

Mrs. Yoder, played with true artistic flavor by Grace Sinclair, gave the needed touch of comedy. Her desire to help everyone, her absolute inability to keep her mouth shut, her gaiety, which refused to be downed even by tragedy, all made her a lovable paradox, for her very desire to help always landed herself and everyone else in a peck of trouble.

The most understanding part and one of the most difficult Papa, taken by Bill Elliott was taken so authentically that it roused in all our hearts, not usually so effected, a desire to murder him.

Not one redeeming feature split the satanic shell which he wore as piety. His cruelty, his meanness, his murderous intentions were brought before us so realistically that I lost all sense of time and place and lived with that family and was so relieved at the showdown that I found it hard to relax. And with Papa out of the way, how little it took to make them all happy! Mama, with her neighbors and her chickens and seeing her children happy, Emma with her beauty and Jake with his workshop, all they wanted was normality, little enough, but enough. To Mike McMorro goes our congratulations on an outstanding production.

Golden Wedding
What is there about the word golden that calls up all sorts of lovely things, richness and color and joy? A golden wedding anniversary combines all these.

On Thursday, April 9, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Evans, Bogartown, celebrated this glorious milestone on their path of wedded life. Archie and I, with some hundred others of their friends, went to their home to give our congratulations and wishes for many future anniversaries.

Surrounded by friends and flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Evans gave everyone a warm welcome and we passed on to visit neighbors and friends, partake of delicious refreshments from a table centred by a beautiful wedding cake, presided over by Mrs. B. Richardson, Newmarket. Mr. Budd took many pictures of the happy event and so it will be preserved for the benefit of their friends and their daughter, Evelyn, who was up from Toronto for the occasion.

There was a grand reception and presentation at Grace church the following evening, but being unable to be there I cannot write about it. The writer of this column wishes Mr. and Mrs. Evans every joy in the coming years.

LEGION NEWS

For the next few weeks this column would like to quote in part from an article written by the Very Rev. John O. Anderson, M.C., D.D., who is our much respected Dominion First Vice-President. The following is an excerpt from his article and this part is entitled "The 'WHAT' of the Legion".

"There are few in this country now who do not know that the Legion is an association of those who, having served their country in time of war, wish to continue that service and sense of comradeship in times of peace. The 'What', then, is so large that it includes anyone who has served in the Armed Forces at home or abroad and who has received an honorable discharge. While this is true, there are a large number who do not realize they are eligible for membership and who would be glad to know they may join this most exclusive of organizations.

"There are many who would welcome an invitation to become associated with a national body interested in the welfare of the veteran, the disabled, the dependents and especially the children of those who served. Here is a group that has 'kept faith' and still serves. That's the 'What' of the Legion."

This coming Saturday, at least two picked Dart Teams will be going to Bracebridge for the District E Tournament.

We were glad to hear of the successful euchre and bridge held by the North York Nurses' Association who had use of our hall last Friday.

N.E.S. News

This week is "Safety and Courtesy Week" at Newmarket high school. Every form has been given a total of 100 points and for such breaches of courtesy as speaking out of turn and poor posture by a member of any form, that form loses a point.

At the end of the week, the form with the highest number of points will receive an honor pennant and each member a treat at the cafeteria. In school, the teachers act as the checkers, but on the buses, a senior student is appointed. So far, the campaign has been a success, with a marked improvement being noticed in the students, both in and out of school.

Also connected with this campaign is an art contest for the lower forms. Posters, demonstrating the main features of the campaign were to be made up over the Easter holidays and submitted for judging on Monday. These posters are to be posted in the school.

This Friday, the biggest social event of the school year is to take place, the Spring Prom. Since 1953 seems to be a year of big changes, a change was made here, too. A rose has been included in the price of the ticket, thus eliminating the corsages.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE ION

Once again the Newmarket Dramatic club has chalked-up a successful production in the presentation on Friday and Saturday of "Papa Is All". This latest effort of the Newmarket group is a continuation of the trend of improvement established by past productions this season.

"Best yet", has been a frequently overheard observation by audiences at the club's shows. And it is no exaggeration, for each play appears to have brought the club one step closer to the professional status of experienced dramatists. In last week's comedy, "Papa Is All", veteran members of the club and newcomers worked together in a manner which would have done justice to a much larger centre.

Once again the pace was slow in the beginning with a certain unsureness being shown by the actors. But, this is a fault which is found at the Royal Alex frequently. Even in Shakespeare's days it was a problem which he attempted to overcome with spectacular curtain raisers. Sometimes the fault in a slow opening lies not so much with the actors as with the author who has given them too feeble a vehicle for their entrance.

For the amateur group there is that awful first few minutes before they get "into character". They are still Mary Jones or Bill Green as in real life and their friends and relatives are seated beyond the footlights anxiously awaiting the beginning. Such a veteran of the theatre as Helen Hayes has said that she never feels equal to those first few minutes. Each time she appears in the opening scene of a play is as if it were her first appearance on the stage.

But, to return to Newmarket and "Papa Is All", we have always refrained from telling the plot of any play in this column. We regret that a situation should exist wherein it should be considered necessary. The calibre of the Newmarket Dramatic club's shows deserves packed houses.

"Papa Is All" presented many difficulties for the local group. It is a story about a Pennsylvania Dutch Mennonite family in which the daughter and son have remained "worldly", choosing to remain outside the faith rather than becoming "plain" or Mennonite like their parents. Written in the idiom of that area, the dialogue must have proven very difficult to master. The following sample illustrates the point: Brenda: I should think Papa'd be proud to have a good airplane mechanic in the family. Mama: Papa don't uphold to

RAISE $60 FOR NURSES' LOUNGE

The sum of $60 was raised by the York County Nurses' association at a bridge and euchre party held at the Newmarket Legion hall on Friday, April 10. The co-conveners were Mrs. Maude MacKinnon and Mrs. Mary Austin.

Proceeds from the evening will be used in the furnishing of a nurses' lounge at York County hospital. There were 10 tables of euchre and six of bridge. Prize winners in the euchre included Mrs. Arthur Goring, Mrs. R. E. Hutchins and Mrs. J. Sheddowich. Bridge winners were Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Howe, Richmond Hill.

The association extends its thanks to the Newmarket Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary for the use of their hall and to Mr. Smith, Sports and Cycle store for the donation of an extra prize for the party.

The other day we happened across a reminder that February 10 was the 15th anniversary of the occasion on which Aurel Joliat played his 700th game for Canadians in the National Hockey League.

Could this 700 be a mis-print? we wondered. For 700 games is a lot of hockey games. Was it possible that a sickly little fellow, whose ailing stomach often revolted at food, whose weight dropped down, on occasion, to a puny 135 pounds, could have survived that long in a gruelling, hard-hitting game played mostly by men whose weight ranged, on the average from 160 to beyond 200? Was it possible that starting in the days of 24-game schedules, he could have squeezed in that much competition?

Yes, all this was possible. For Aurel Joliat was one of the wonders of hockey. He came into the N.H.L. in 1922, a virtual unknown. On Canadians' roster was Newsy Lalonde, famous from coast to coast, a player of tremendous craft and skill, whose feats were legion, his name a household word.
And so, when it was announced in the summer of 1922, that Canadians had traded the great Lalonde to the Saskatoon club, for an unknown youngster, whose only hockey experience had been in junior ranks, the sports world was stunned, unbelieving. It seemed impossible. But then, as it turned out, everything about Joliat seemed impossible.

From the start, this little pale-faced left-winger, who invariably wore a black peaked cap pulled down over his eyes, was sensational. A pygmy among giants, he became the elusive will o' the wisp of hockey. He could spin on the traditional dime. His slick-handling baffled his opponents. And when, in desperation his teammates sought to eliminate him by body checks, they found him to be the little man who wasn't there.

A great goaler of the era once told me that Joliat was the most dangerous sniper of his day, because of his accuracy, rather than speed of shot. The records support this.
For in 16 seasons of League play, he scored 270 goals, exactly the same number as compiled by his illustrious team-mate, Howie Morenz.

at centre. The silent, tight-lipped Joliat was smooth, skilful, but unobtrusive, Morenz a flaring bundle of spectacular speed.
For eleven consecutive seasons they formed a remarkable partnership. Usually, the centre makes the plays in hockey.
But so great was Joliat's skill and craft, that at left wing, he was the play-maker, who fed Morenz, the puck for the rifling drives fired by the Stratford Siskak.

A paradox of hockey was the magnificent Mike Joliat, physically handicapped, but one of the great instinctive artists of the game, one of the Great Little Men who furnish brilliant chapters in every sport.

Newmarket Office Specialty juveniles rate the tag "the surprise team of the North York Minor Hockey League". The experts didn't rate them a chance to cop the league flag. The Specialties playing heads up hockey fooled the experts by knocking off Stouffville and Richmond Hill in turn to cop the league hunting and bring the Hub the league's juvenile title. LADIES' LAWN BOWLING
The Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club held a social evening on Tuesday, April 7 at the Miami lawn bowling club house, on Davis Drive.
This get together was held in honor of one of the active members, Mrs. Ron. Watt, who is leaving Newmarket, to make her home in Toronto. Bowling on the mats with lawn bowls, filled the first part of the evening, and moving pictures and still pictures of Florida were shown by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Luesby.
Mrs. Watt was presented with a plaid umbrella, as a memento from the Newmarket Lawn Bowling Club. A delightful lunch followed.
Anyone who would like to bowl with the club this summer on the green, is asked to contact Mrs. E. McCaffrey, president, Mrs. E. Coates, treasurer, Mrs. C. F. Wil- lis secretary, or any of the mem- bers.

Zephyr Blues Win Hockey Title
Zephyr Blues, over the past years, have been bringing home their fair share of softball trophies. Now they've branched out to grab off hockey cups. After beating Greenbank in the semi-finals of the Uxbridge Commu- nity hockey league, the Blues moved against Sandford in the league finals.
The Blues continued their win- ning ways in the finals by knock- ing off Sandford in two straight, to capture the league title and the British Consul Cup, emblem- atic of league supremacy. The second game of the finals was played in the Aurora arena last week and the Blues mounted a sizzling attack to gallop to a convincing 11 - 3 triumph over Sandford.
Five players shared in the Blues' all-out scoring effort. Headman was Chess Lunney with a rapid fire four goal scoring spurt. Bud Drolet added three- goal support and Ron Kester racked up two goals while Alan Lockie and Gerry Pickering banged in the other Blues' goals.
In their championship drive, Blues drew on top flight net- minding from Ken Taylor who in turn got good defensive pro- tection from Clarkson Arnold and Stan Lunney.
Zephyr: K. Taylor, C. Arnold, S. Lunney, C. Lunney, I. Clark, B. Drolet, A. Lockie, R. Kester, G. Pickering, M. Morrison.

Aurora Rotary Wins N. York Bantam Title
Led by the bright scoring an- ties of Dan Patrick, Jack Brooks, Ron Egan, Charles Vrana and Wayne Spence, Aurora Rotary led the North York Bantam hock- ey league a race all during the regular season.
Thursday the Rotary won the big prize, the North York Ban- tam league title when they downed Woodbridge Red and Whites 13 - 6. Thursday's victory coming on top of a 4 - 3 win in game one of the home and home goals to count series clinched the title series for Au- rora by a 17 - 9 count on the round.
The Rotarians, under the guid- ance of coach Bill Patrick Jr., gave out the information early that they were going all out for the title. They rammed home seven first period goals to take command. The Rotarians con- tinued their mastery over the short staffed Geo. Cooke Bridg- ers with a 3 - 2 margin in the middle period and completed their successful run to the title by outscoring the invading corps 3 - 1 in the final 20 minutes.
One didn't have to search far to tab the key player in the Au- rora attack. It was Dan Patrick. Dan, operating at peak efficiency inside the Woodbridge back yard, collected six goals to give Au- rora their big boost along the championship trail.
Dan's effort could have almost won it single-handed but just for good measure, Charles Vrana, Jim Loblaw and Ron Egan tuned in on the goal scoring fun for two goals each. Vrana also came in for two valuable assists to make it a big four point evening. Wayne Spence contracted for the Rotary's other goal to complete their scoring picture.
Ron Evans was Woodbridge's big wheel with three goals while Ken Ouder Kirk, Bob Frost and Archie Robb banged in a goal each.
Dave Griffith and Leroy "Half- Pint" Ellis shared the spotlight in Aurora's winning goal-keeping display while Leo Froment, Dave Broom, Jim Loblaw and Barry Cook erected a stone wall defend- ing in front of the Aurora cage.
Bill Mundell and Bill Patrick Jr. received the Lex MacKenzie trophy, emblematic of North York Bantam supremacy in the after the game ceremonies.
Aurora: D. Griffith, L. Ellis, J. Loblaw, D. Broom, B. Cook, L. Froment, D. Patrick, R. Egan, J. Brooks, W. Spence, C. Vrana, H. Hammond, W. Calhoun, J. Wil- son, D. Fines, H. McKenzie.

Optimist N.H.L. Title
Canadians are the new cham- pions of the Optimists' N.H.L. The Canucks fashioned a 3-2 de- cision over Don Warner's Bruins to collect the crown. The game marked the end of a great title series. Canadians won game one in the best of three fi- nals 7-6 in overtime while game two was a 6-6 deadlock.
Canadiens made their first championship strike in double quick time. Grant Morton, sea- son long tower of strength with the Canucks, converting Brad Walker's relay into a goal after just 45 seconds of action. For a long time that lone goal looked good enough to win it as the teams duelled scorelessly through the middle session and it started to loom big as the team passed the midway mark of the third.
Then the Canadiens' cham- pionship plans hit a temporary road-block as Brad Walker and Lorne Babcock were given sin bin stretches seconds apart by referees Joe Peat and Fred Dill- man. That was the green light for the Bruins to get working on a 2-1 lead as Harold Harper and Earl Lothian, with assist help from Don Thoms and Norm Smart, scored 17 seconds apart.
Canadiens waited three minutes to tie it on Bill Forhan's goal and Ron Crouch became the hero in the Canucks' camp when he fielded Lorne Babcock's flip- out and drove it behind the Bruins' netman, Paul Hillaby.
Bruins stormed the Cana- diens' bastion in the final min- utes but Jimmy Rich, playing one of his best games, frustrated their every bid. Ken Stephens, in the absence of Bill Hopper, masterminded the Canucks from the bench.
It marked the end of another successful Optimist N.H.L. sea- son. Russ Broadbent presented his version of the Stanley Cup to the Canadiens in the after the game ceremonies.

Specialty Juveniles Win North York Minor Title

Earlier in the season when the guessperts were busy making notes on possible North York Minor Hockey League champions, they gave about everybody a chance of copying honors except the Office Specialty juveniles. That was their one big mistake.

Now the experts' pans are very red. The Specialty, hitting their scoring stride in the playoffs, skating and back-checking in championship fashion, floored Richmond Hill Rose Kings 9 - 3 Thursday at the arena. They won the best of three series opener 7 - 4. The final win set the Specialty up as North York Juvenile champs. The Specialty win added another trophy to the Hub hockey shelf and the Hub hockey boys now have two of three North York cups.

Specialties zipped their way into a 3 - 1 first period lead as Freeman West, Glen Keffer and Don McKnight let fly with clean cut goals. Those vital start-off goals were set up by payoff rushes by Jack Staley, Delwyn Creed and Geo. Davis.

The Bill White led Hillmen made a game of it for 30 minutes. Murray Chapman scored two and Ron Leuschner, another Hill ace, counted the invaders' third tally. Those goals made it possible for the Hillmen to share a 3 - 3 tie with the Specialty at the midway mark of the second. From there on it was all a Newmarket show as the Ken Broughton, Eddie Pitt Specialty rolled into the championship circle by out-scoring the tiring Hillmen 6 - 0.

Jack Staley and Charlie McGuire put the puck into the net twice before the end of the second period to build the Specialty a 7 - 3 lead. Delwyn Creed broke in on a cleared channel for the first of two third period clincher goals and Charlie McGuire, starring at the pivot spot, completed his hat trick performance and the Specialty scoring.

Specialties were led up front by Charlie McGuire with three and Jack Staley with two goals. Specialty early in the game had to lean heavily on their goalie Dick Corner and Corner in turn had to brush off some of his glory onto defensemen Grant Morton, Dave Pitt, Ken Smith and Geo. Galbraith and back checking whizzers Warren Townsley and Merlyn Bales.

Newmarket: D. Corner, G. Morton, D. Pitt, K. Smith, G. Galbraith, C. McGuire, F. West, J. Staley, W. Townsley, D. Creed, D. McKnight, M. Bales, G. Keffer, G. Davis.

SOFTBALL MEET MONDAY
No sooner do we get the rink closed than up comes word that the softball season is upon us. Bert Kent, Newmarket Town Softball league secretary, shoots along advice that should bring all the local mushball addicts to attention.

The organization meeting of the Newmarket Town Softball league for the 1955 season will be held in the Town Hall basement, Monday, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone interested in seeing the framework for a strong town softball league being set up is asked to make it a point to attend the meeting.

HASHMAN AWARD

Broughton And Pitt

Our Hub minor hockeyists seem to have done a spot of alright in gathering hockey trophies this year. First the Smoke Rings came down in front. Then the Optimist midgets crash through for North York honors. Last week the Office Specialty juveniles joined their younger brethren in the select circle by copying the North York Juvenile title. Well done boys. The Specialty juvenile triumph, we thought, was one of the most pleasant surprises of the season. You know, when they started out, they weren't given much of a chance of copying the flag. They "dood it" and more power to them so this week, to mark their championship winning feat, we're naming coach Ken Broughton and manager Eddie Pitt, who had a great deal to do with the ultimate victory, as double winners for the Hashman award and Roxy Theatre pases.

Haskett's
HASH
BY GEORGE HASKETT
Newmarket Sports Editor

The sun, it seems, is shining on both sides of the fence so your scribe, I suppose, should start dishing up some baseball-softball small talk. That's just what we'll do first, but we must try and get in a few licks to clear hockey from the books.

Bert Kent and Mickey Smith buzz about the town league gathering Monday. At the end of last season, rumor mills were going full blast that the town softball league was finished. It did end on a sour note but let's forget last year. Several chaps have said, "So what, it didn't finish last year but then we had a lot of fun over the season."

Righto, chums, that's my sentiments exactly. We had a lot of fun, some very good games and as your scribe sees it, the main function of a town league is to give the largest number possible an opportunity to play ball. So let's get out Monday and get cracking on a new season.

There's been considerable talk about a town intermediate softball team for out-of-town competition. Shouldn't be too difficult to have a cracker-jack intermediate side. Certainly the talent is available. There is some talk of going in with Barrie, Camp Borden and Orillia on this deal. Personally we think that's going a little far afield for softball competition.

What's wrong with a league comprising Aurora, Newmarket and Schomberg? Aurora will have lights this season; Newmarket and Schomberg already have them. Markham, our friend John Lunau mentions, will have lights this summer; Markham possibly could be talked into making a fourth team. It's worth a try.

Other suggestions your paragrapher has heard discussed cover a hook-up between Aurora and Newmarket Town Leagues and a hook-up between Newmarket Town League and Lake Simcoe Softball League. Of course these are all just thoughts now; possibly when the mushball filberts gather Monday someone will have a better idea.

The main point, fellows, if you want a town league, get out on Monday and put in your two cents worth. If you don't get there, don't come along in July or August and say you fellows should have done this or done that. No, you won't have a strong league by sitting in your old rocking chair Monday and saying "let George do it".

Ice Scrapings: We just put the finishing touches on a great first year in North York minor hockey. Already the chaps in control are talking bigger and better things next season. Hope to make it a 20-team league, come next snow. Already there has been nibbles about next season from Sutton, Keswick, Bradford, Bolton, St. Andrew's College and Stouffville bantams.

Before closing out for '55, congratulation are in order to all those who helped to make this league a grand first year success. Let's see, that would be Geo. Cooke (Woodbridge), Tubby Barrow, Bill White, Wick Mills (Richmond Hill), Bill Mundell and his helpers at Aurora, Ken Wagg (Stouffville), Doug Marchant, Bill Hodgson, Bill Breddon (Schomberg), Bob Walton, Ken Brown (Nobleton) and here at home, Ken Stephens, Wayne Manning, Lowell Waller, Eddie Pitt, Ken Broughton, Frank Hollingsworth and Peter Gorman. It's been a pleasure to work with you; you'll be hearing from us in the fall.

When you come to sum it up, didn't do bad for a first year league with Newmarket and Schomberg winning O.M.H.A. championships, Nobleton reaching the midget finals and Richmond Hill winning their way through three rounds in the juvenile competition. Thank you are also due those chaps who gave their time free gratis as referees, to arena managers Stan Smith, Pep Perryment and Ethel.

Tractor Owners' Meeting at Tom Birrell and Sons, Ltd., Wednesday, April 22, at 8:30 p.m. Arrangements have been made to hold a Tractor Owners' Meeting and we invite you to attend. South Simcoe Baseball League Organizes

The South Simcoe Baseball League pot is beginning to simmer. Here's information from league headquarters that should get Hub baseball boosters Messrs. Hudson, Robinson, Cain, Bennitt and Surgeoner itching to get the team on the field for spring training. The annual organization meeting of the South Simcoe Baseball League will be held at the Alliston Legion Hall, Thursday, April 30 at 8 p.m.

Last season the South Simcoe League boasted 12 teams, namely Newmarket, Alliston, Barrie, Beeton, Bradford, Everett A.C., Everett M.L., Ivy, Palgrave, Stroud, New Lovell and Thornton. All twelve teams will receive according to latest advice received by league secretary Clare Ludlow. Five new teams namely Aurora, Creemore, Cookstown, Churchill and Camp Borden Army have enquired about membership in the league.

Gardner Lloyd and Roy Allan are fronting the move to enter an Aurora team. If Aurora plans go through the entry in the South Simcoe Baseball League will be sponsored by the Aurora Legion.

TENNIS CLUB OFFICERS

First steps toward a banner Newmarket Tennis club year were taken at the club's annual meeting held at the tennis courts Tuesday. First on the agenda was the election of officers for the 1955 season.

Honorary presidents named were Beatrice Lyons, N.L. Mathews and Bob Yates. Keith Davis was given a vote of confidence and returned as president. Other officials named were vice-presidents, Charles Lee and Margaret Davis. Ken Peever was elected secretary and John Bateman, treasurer.

The following committees were also named: grounds committee chairman, Harry Strickland and Geo. Juraska; tournament committee; chairman, Ken Peever, Charles Lee and Margaret Davis. Everything points to a big season. The courts have been cleaned and rolled and are ready for the laying of tapes. It is hoped to start the tennis season officially, weather permitting, within the next two weeks.

Plans for the coming season discussed at the Tuesday gathering include an open tournament each month during the season. It is hoped also to raise sufficient funds to provide lights for the centre courts.

Club President Keith Davis also plans to continue his instruction periods for the junior members both here and at Aurora. Information on this subject or on membership with the club can be obtained by calling Keith Davis at 788).

'Night of Champions' Held At Aurora

The third annual "Night of Champions" furnished the fun and action in the Aurora arena last week. First on the agenda was the scrap for the Bantam league title and the Tom Dickson trophy.

Bombers were led by Ron Egan and Dan Patrick; Egan fired three goals, Patrick one. The Bombers came up with a 4-1 win over the Rockets to annex the championship. Wayne Spence came through with the goal that kept the Rockets from a shut-out shame.

Three close games in the pee-wee playdowns kept the fans around until the final shot was fired around midnight. In game one of the semi-finals, Detroit squeezed out Chicago 3-2. Keith Browning, making like a junior edition of Gordie Howe, netted two goals and Elgin Evans scored one to furnish the Redwings' fire power. Larry Woods and Bill Duckenfield were the happy Chicago snipers.

Maple Leafs and Canadians put up a great scrap in game two of the semi-finals before Glen Bennett got his shooting iron on target to rate the Leafs a 1-0 win over their battling Canuck rivals.

Those semi-final victories by Redwings and Leafs sent the two clubs into battle for the league title. Redwings came out of the scrap as league crown wearers. Keith Browning, Doug Allan and Elgin Evans scored a goal each to supply the Redwings with a 3-2 win over the Leafs. Glen Bennett was again the Leafletian star, potting both their goals.

The games marked the end of another big minor hockey league program under the direction of Bill Mundell. There were under 200 fans on hand to view the small fry hockeyists in action and that was the only disappointing feature of the big night of hockey action.

Newmarket Curlers

Bradford Curling club, according to press releases this week, is winding up another successful season.

In the ladies' year-long competition, Mrs. Elizabeth McNabb piloted her rink composed of Ruth Kneeshaw, Lois Menary and Mrs. McClelland through to the top spot and then proved their right to the lofty position by winning the playoff.

In the men's division four Newmarket rinks entered the season-long race. Lou Stephens' rink was high among the Newmarket four with 141 points, followed by Herb Lawrence 133, Al McNabb 132 and Harold Eaton 117. To prove how close the competition was over the season, two rinks, Wm. Carr's and Graham Darling's finished in a dead heat for top honors with 164 points each.

The curlers are still looking ahead for the climax playoff games for the Walker and Bradling trophies.

The original provinces of the Confederation of Canada were New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Ontario and Quebec.

D. J. Murray, John Willis Chairman, Vice-Chairman Of Athletic Field Board

After a late start of some fifteen minutes, a new board came to life on Thursday evening, April 9. Its name is the Athletic Field board. In it is culminated the strenuous efforts of a group of sportsmen to give Aurora floodlights in the town park. The rapid success of their efforts is something they may well be proud of.

To inaugurate the meeting and install the new officers, the mayor presided. He outlined the functions of the board which, he said, was legalized by-law and approved by the provincial government. He paid tribute to those whom he described as "sports loving workers" and who were doing a good job for their town. Finally, and, as he stated, with malice toward none, the mayor emphasized the value of a punctual start with all their meetings.

The first business of the meeting was the election of a chairman. On a motion by Councillor W. Davidson, seconded by Mr. John Willis, Councillor D. J. Murray was unanimously elected for this office.

Congratulating Mr. Murray on his election, the mayor said that none had shown a greater interest in, nor worked harder for, floodlights than their newly-elected chairman and he would give them excellent leadership.

On a motion by Mr. A. J. Child, seconded by Councillor Davidson, Mr. John Willis was unanimously elected to the office of vice-chairman and received congratulations on a popular choice.

Other Elections

On his election as acting secretary-treasurer, the mayor paid tribute to Mr. Gardiner Lloyd for the excellent services he had performed in the cause of floodlights.

When the matter of appointing associate members to the board was brought up, Mr. Child questioned the need for such additions. Councillor Davidson said that he considered it fitting that recognition should be made to those who had been in on the work from the start.

Mr. John Willis said he thoroughly agreed with Mr. Davidson. Three associate members, Gardiner Lloyd, Don Mathews and Jack Drury, were added to the board. While they will have no voting powers, they will sit in with the board and contribute their opinions to its work.

There are seven members of the Athletic Field board: chairman, D. J. Murray, representing the junior; John Willis, vice-chairman, representing the Rotary club; Don Glass, representing the Lions club; A. J. Child, representing the board of trade; Cliff Chapman, representing the Legion; and Councillors Davidson and Moffat representing the town council.

Down To Business

When the mayor had tendered the new board his good wishes and Mr. Murray had expressed his appreciation of his appointment as chairman, the board got down to business. Hydro superintendent, Mr. Charles Copland, was present to offer the support of the commission in any way it could help. He stated that the commission would undertake the work of installing the equipment if the board so desired, or the board could place the work with an outside contractor if it so desired.

The chairman paid tribute to Mr. Copland for the interest he had taken in floodlights and felt it would be a good thing to leave everything in his hands. This view was supported by Mr. Don Glass, who said they would be extremely foolish to go outside the town to have the work done.

Other members of the board expressed similar views. Mr. Child thought the matter of getting the transformer might mean some delay, whereupon Mr. Copland said he had taken care of that. The transformer, he said, would arrive immediately. The board thanked Mr. Copland on his agreeing to have the installation of the equipment attended to without delay.

Discussion On Funds

The chairman outlined the financial responsibilities concerning their project. He said the committee had undertaken to find $1,000; the department had provided a further $1,000 and the town council would provide the final $2,000 of the $4,000 project. Mr. Murray stated that while a substantial amount of the $1,000 had been collected, they were still short of their objective and a canvass was in operation.

Mrs. Moffat recalled that the Rotary club had generously donated the large sum of $800 to the recreation commission for children's equipment and she wondered if the board of trade could not make a donation from the considerable public funds it held, especially as the floodlights was a town project. "For what purpose was the money being held?" she asked.

Mr. Child, secretary to the board of trade, pointed out that the board of trade was not a service club.

Mr. John Willis expressed his surprise. "If the board of trade isn't a service club for the town, then what is it?" he asked. He argued that whatever benefitted the town benefitted the board of trade. At one point in his remarks he said: "The board of trade is ready to hand out money to the Banner for the printing of leaflets, but hesitates to hand out money for a town project."

Mr. Child said the board of trade did not intend to have the leaflets printed until there was land available for new industries. Mr. Cliff Chapman and other speakers took the view that the board of trade should be pleased to support floodlights.

Continue Canvass

The board continued a discussion on ways and means of raising the final sum of money needed to fulfil the undertaking of the original committee. "Every single dollar will help," said the chairman. It was decided to publish a list of all subscribers to the fund. The meeting adjourned at 10:15 p.m.

Subscribers' Names

With reference to the foregoing decision by the Athletic Field board to publish the names of all subscribers to the floodlights fund, all subscriptions which were published in next week's issue of Aurora News Page, which have been received at time of going to press.

Taking "The Cure" Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rubin are home after a two weeks sojourn at the celebrated Bernard MacFadden physical culture hotel at Danville, New York. "I went away to seek rest and relaxation," Mr. Rubin told us. Mrs. G. Rubin, Toronto, Larry's mother, accompanied them, staying as a guest at the hotel.

As for Mr. and Mrs. Rubin, they entered the hotel as patients on a special diet, not for weight reduction but for what the hotel regimen provides as a "course of bodily cleansing". For the first nine days their menu consisted only of bowls of broth and grapefruit three times daily and this was followed by a course of scoops of cottage cheese and vegetables. During their final two days' residence they were on a normal diet.

Mr. Rubin admits that his wife's inclusion on this spartan diet was more a case of giving him "moral support" than a necessity as far as she was concerned. Despite the apparent severity of the schedule, he lost only six pounds in weight. In all other respects he assures us that the course was immensely beneficial to him. "What good literature is for the mind, so is such a diet for the body," he said.

Barefoot Air
The hotel, built on the side of a mountain, is sufficiently spacious to accommodate 400. Numerous cottages, subsidiaries of the hotel, are dotted on the mountain side. The air is wonderful at an altitude of approximately 11 or 12 hundred feet. He said he derived a far greater benefit at Danville than he did in Florida a year ago. "I'm so sold on the place," he said, "that my wife and I expect to make a further stay there in the fall."

FROM THE RECORDS

Since the March 16 meeting of council, when the reeve and deputy-reeve made a motion that no more town printing be given our newspaper, we have been looking through the records for the past five years. In his attack on our newspaper Reeve Cook declared his conviction that the town should not be supporting Newmarket industry. He did not say that the town should not support Brampton industry, where the Aurora Banner is printed each week.

Councillor Dale King said "we can save money by cutting out our advertising in Newmarket," and another councillor said "it has been a double expense". Since there's been no prices asked for, Mr. King is not in a position to prove that our rates are more costly than the Banner for general work. As for "double expense", the following figures, which we have taken from the records, will tell their own story.

In 1948 the Banner received from the town treasury $701.25. In 1948 the Era received $5.61. In 1949 the Banner received $730.49. In 1949 the Era received $6.56. In 1950 the Banner received $784.48. In 1950 the Era received $4.80. In 1951 the Banner received $352.58. In 1951 the Era received $12.15. In 1952 the Banner received $1,153.18. In 1952 the Era received $144.38. Up to April 6, 1953, the Banner received $169.59. Up to the same date the Era received $8.40.

Over the five years and three months concerned, the records show that the Banner has received from the Aurora town treasury $3,891.57 and the Era and Express $181.90.

When he has studied these figures, we hope Reeve Cook's anxieties in regard to the Aurora town treasury supporting Newmarket industry will be set at rest.

Since he is so concerned apparently about money going out of Aurora to support the industries of other towns, perhaps he will find out what it costs to have the Banner printed at Brampton to be sold in the home town of Aurora. We don't think he'll try. And we don't think he'd get the answer if he did try.

CONGRATULATIONS

A full report of the proceedings of the first meeting of the newly-created Athletic Field board will be found in adjoining columns in this issue. Here we wish to offer sincere congratulations to all those who have assisted in the accomplishments which have culminated in the formation of the board. When it is recalled that as recently as the middle of January the floodlighting project was hardly more than an ardent wish, the extent of those accomplishments can be appreciated.

The Athletic Field board embraces floodlighting. So much progress has been recorded that floodlights will be installed in the town park next month, if not earlier. When it was suggested at the first meeting that there might be some delay in getting the transformer, the hydro superintendent, Charles Copland, delighted everyone by stating that it would be received the following day. The tributes paid to Mr. Copland for his ready co-operation in the project were well deserved.

It is an excellent board. We offer our congratulations to Councillor D. J. Murray on becoming its first chairman, a fitting and well-deserved choice and to Mr. John Willis who, like Mr. Murray, received a unanimous vote. Equally pleasing is the inclusion of Councillors Davidson and Mrs. Moffat. Such a board would hardly be complete without the presence of Mr. Don Glass and the inclusion of Mr. Cliff Chapman was inevitable. Live-wire Gardiner Lloyd is acting secretary-treasurer. We sincerely wish the Athletic Field board all good fortune.

STILL NO REPORT!

Careful search through the columns of the Aurora Banner of last week failed to reveal any report from the board of trade concerning the public fund held by that organization. We have no intention of relaxing our efforts to have a statement produced which, we are informed on good authority, was prepared for publication last winter. As we have previously stated, it is believed that the board holds an approximate sum of $12,000.

We were not favorably impressed by the attitude of the secretary of the board of trade, Mr. A. J. Child, when it was suggested at the inaugural Athletic Field board meeting that the organization he represents might contribute to the funds needed for completing the $1,000 which the floodlights committee undertook to provide for the project. He is a member of the new board, representing the board of trade.

Mrs. Moffat suggested that the board of trade might well use some of its funds for the floodlighting project to which Mr. Child replied that the board of trade was not a service club. Mr. John Willis and others strongly objected to what sounded like a harsh interpretation of the part that the board of trade is presumed to take in the economic and community life of the town. The fact is that by virtue of its inclusion on the Athletic Field board under the Community Centres act, the board of trade has no moral right to a representative unless it does contribute to the funds.

Meanwhile, we await a report on the publicly-subscribed funds held by the board of trade.

COUNCIL SIDELIGHTS

"Damn It" Quoth The Mayor After A Three Votes Count: And Still They Do "Dissolve"

Our temperamental mayor became testy again at the last regular meeting of council. Not at us but at a majority of his council. The mayor is much too easily put out. He shows himself to be a bad loser. He does not seem able to smile at defeat. In the sunshine he's a dandy. But when the going gets rough he soon gets into a dither.

So it was in the case of the $180 guarantee which the C.N.R. was asking for. They were prepared to run an excursion train from Toronto to Aurora on the morning of Saturday, May 16, as the mayor said, some 20 minutes ahead of the 1853 model engine and train, centre-pieces of the steam-train centennial. We believe promoter Picking had a photograph of the old engine model on his front page recently. As the mayor explained it, the C.N.R. had no intention of holding on to the $180 cheque. It would be handed back to the town as soon as enough passengers at Toronto had paid their return train fares of $1.05 to make up the $180. And the town of Aurora would be getting 15 cents out of every $1.05 ticket sold. It seemed a good way, pondered the mayor, of raising a little money for the town. The C.N.R. would be making some money too, of course, if 1,400 passengers booked to Aurora to join in the celebrations. The whole picture looked rosy and Councillor Davis was nodding his head in approval.

Pricking The Bubble!
The rosy bubble was pricked by several councillors. First to speak up was Councillor Davidson who expressed amazement that a huge concern like the C.N.R. could be asking a small town such as Aurora for a guarantee of $180. He was followed by Councillor D. J. Murray and Councillor Jean Moffat, both speakers taking exception to the suggestion that Aurora should have to back the C.N.R.'s excursion train project.

"Why, it's the business of the C.N.R. to run trains," said Mrs. Moffat. "That's their job to run trains. Why should Aurora contribute?" Then Mr. Davidson said it "looked screwy to him."

But the mayor was certain Aurora couldn't lose. He went over the possibilities of the excursion train being crowded with Aurora getting its 15 cents on every ticket sold. That was the way he understood it. Then Councillor Murray suddenly pricked the verbal bubble by asking what would happen if it were a wet day and only $170 worth of tickets were sold. "Would Aurora get its $180 cheque back?" he asked the mayor, who said he couldn't answer that question.

Came The Flop!
Deputy-reeve Murray had been backing the idea of the excursion train. Then he moved a motion that a grant of $180 be made to the C.N.R. and this was seconded by Clarence. Then the mayor put the motion and only three hands were up to support it, namely, the reeve, the deputy-reeve and Clarence. The mayor looked about him in amazement at this unexpected flop. He looked as though he couldn't believe his own eyes!

In his election address the mayor had likened council to a flock of sheep who needed a shepherd, also as an orchestra that couldn't get along without a leader. Now it had happened that five of the flock had deserted their shepherd; five of the orchestra had revolted from the leader's baton.

Looking around the council table we saw smiles, with Dale King appearing to be grinning. Clarence was still puffing away at his pipe and we fancied we overheard him muttering something about this getting into the paper. The deputy-reeve was looking into the bright future, but the reeve had a downcast glance at the table, like a hungry man who has come home for a good dinner to find only an empty plate before him.

It was all too bad! Why it seemed like damning the town and all the individuals in it. The mayor's wordy recommendation of the $180 for the C.N.R. had failed. "Damn it, I'll pay the $180 myself," he whipped out.

What A Headline!
There was once a mayor in Aurora, as the newspaper records reveal, who walked out on his council when he failed to get his own way. We wonder if that could ever happen in the instance of the present mayor?

Having regard to his splenetic "damned trash" outbreak we couldn't feel surprised if history repeated itself.

What a headline that would make for promoter Picking's front page. In imagination we can see the large pot of red ink brought out, and there, above the Banner masthead, in the same place where "damned trash" appeared, readers might see the flaming super-headline: "MAYOR WALKS OUT ON COUNCIL". When reason is replaced by temper many strange things can happen.

Enter The President

Board of trade president, Mr. H. Seston, was in again on council. He had before him two large sheets of closely-typed notes. He had come to tell council what the board was proposing in the way of Coronation decorations. He had come to ask for $250 to defray the cost of the latter. (We wonder if the board will buy the decorations from the Banner company?)

We have a confession to make. It is this. Whenever Mr. Seston comes to council we are haunted by the feeling that, although it is his voice we hear, the words we imagine are those of promoter Picking. Mr. Picking is, of course, a member of a statutory committee of the board of trade, as we learned from the mayor. Our hauntings may be groundless; but many great authors have their ghost-writers.

Councillor Moffat needed the president. She asked him if the board of trade was contributing anything from its funds to help the town with the costs of Coronation celebrations. The question seemed to startle the president, who meekly answered that such a thing had never been considered by his board. No. There was no contribution from the board of trade. But the president and his committee were giving their services.

Mrs. Moffat is showing a unique gift for needing. She appears to take nothing for granted. She asks questions and wants answers. She is proving herself a live and competent member of council.

Needed The Reeve

Before the session was through, Councillor Moffat had needed the reeve. She asked for information on the work of the planning committee of the council, of which the reeve is chairman. She wanted to "learn," she confessed. But apparently the reeve couldn't give her the information she wanted. So the mayor had the book of words brought forth, and read out the duties of the planning committee. Clarence smoked his pipe and nodded his head in approval.

"Resolve" or "Dissolve"?

We hear that the reeve brought out his dictionary and a long discussion took place on whether it was correct to say that council "resolved" or "dissolved" itself "into a committee of the whole". It appears that (Page 12, Col. 6)

MAJORITY FAVORS SCHOOL ADDITION AT OAK RIDGES

A ratepayers' meeting called by the trustee board of Union S. S. 1, King and Whitchurch, was attended by 100 at the Oak Ridges school, April 10. A majority vote carried to apply to King township council for a debenture of $101,000 to construct a five room addition to the Oak Ridges school.

Forty-two of those present qualified to vote by ballot with 26 casting in favor of the project and 15 against. One ballot was improperly marked. Before the vote was taken Bob Woolley, chairman of the school board, outlined the purpose and extent of the proposed project to accommodate the increasing school population. Sixty-five pupils must be accommodated this coming fall term. The outlook is to provide facilities to further increase the number of pupils during the next five years or more.

Public school inspector Maynard Hallman spoke, as did Mr. Barnett, an architect. It was pointed out that some time would elapse before a building contract would be awarded since Whitchurch township council has to be consulted in the debenture plan, and approval must be received from the Ontario Municipal Board.

"dissolve" is to stick! Councilors King and Davis both made motions that "council dissolve into a committee of the whole". It is true that Mr. King grinned as he "dissolved" himself and his compatriots.

In order to find out what other councils are doing, we phoned the clerk's offices at Richmond Hill and Newmarket. We were not surprised that our simple question appeared to inspire some amusement. Neither office had heard of "dissolving" a council "into a committee of the whole", though, both had heard of "resolving" it into that condition of uninhibited deliberation.

How long will the Aurora town council continue to make a joke of itself by persisting in the use of such a nonsensical term as "dissolve" when any alert-minded schoolboy knows that it should be "resolve"? When you "dissolve" something you disintegrate it; when you "resolve" you do just the opposite. A council could dissolve its proceedings and adjourn. But it cannot accomplish the impossible feat of dissolving itself into a committee of the whole. We wonder how long the farce will continue. We'd bet there isn't another council in all of Canada that dissolves itself into a committee of the whole!

Townships Plan War On Injurious Warble Fly Pest

Losses estimated at $15,000,000 a year in Canada are attributed to warble flies which are found in every part of the country where cattle are raised. In the Newmarket district, the townships of Whitchurch and East Gwillimbury have embarked on warble fly control programs with township wide spraying of cattle planned.

The pest is injurious during both its adult fly stage and parasite grub stage. While laying eggs, the flies cause loss by frightening and worrying animals. This results in reduced milk yields, poor gains in weight and possible injury or even death of the animal while trying to escape the flies. Cattle infested with grubs are unthrifty and give reduced milk yields. Grubs also cause loss by injuring cattle hides.

There are two common species of warble flies in Canada, the common cattle grub or heel fly, and the northern cattle grub or the large warble fly. Life histories and habits of both species are similar. Eggs are laid on bright days on legs and lower parts of cattle. When grubs hatch they penetrate the skin and migrate through the system until coming to rest in late winter under the skin of the back where they remain for about two months.

When mature, grubs force their way through breathing holes they have made in the skin of the back, fall to the ground and form pupae from which the adult flies emerge in one or two months. The life cycle requires about one year, nine months of which is spent as a grub in the animal.

The most effective method of controlling warble fly damage is by spraying or washing cattle with a derris powder containing five per cent rotenone. Using this method, outstanding reduction in warble fly damage has been obtained in many communities where warble fly control has become compulsory.

NEWMARKET VETERANS

It may interest readers to know that 62,394 veterans of the first world war were in receipt of disability pensions as of Jan. 1, 1953; 134,906 were under the age of 21 when they served. The number of Canadian born who served in 1914-18 war is 318,728; those born outside of Canada total 300,908.

As to War Veterans Allowance recipients, allowances are being paid to 29,508 veterans; as to widows, the figure is 10,261, to orphans 158. The figures as listed are compiled as of March 31, 1953. Speaking of the older veteran and War Veterans' Allowance which is inadequate at the present rates, this would be an opportune time to mention our Forget-Me-Not tag day to be held on June 20. All receipts will be applied to the welfare of needy veterans.

Our bingo held on April 8 was well attended, thanks again to our supporters. Our next bingo date is April 22. The chairman has some ideas. Come and see for yourself.

Our next general meeting date is April 24 at 7.30 p.m. A good evening of entertainment is anticipated. Invite your wife, your friend and any prospective member. If you are looking for something nice, drop in to Campbell's book store and take a look at that Coronation plate. It may be had for the price of one ticket.

Well comrades, we have only two more regular monthly meetings, then one called before June 21.

IN ACT OF COMMITTING 'FEDERAL OFFENCE'

Four-year-old Margaret McNarry is caught in the act of committing "a federal offence" as she picks some of the brilliant yellow daffodils that swarm out of the ground every spring around parliament buildings in Ottawa. Thousands of the vivid blooms herald an early spring in the Canadian capital, due to a steam pipe that runs beneath the lawns of Parliament Hill, warming the soil and sending flowers popping out of the ground weeks before they are due to arrive.

When Spring Comes

by Isabel Inglis Colville

There's a sort of a kind of a feeling
When springtime comes around,
That from someone or something you're stealing
If resting, you're ever found.
You feel that you ought to be scrubbing
The winter grime away
Or giving the silver a rubbing
Or making the cushions gay.
The books may sadly need dusting
But, taking them from each shelf,
You know that you cannot be trusting
One person - and that one - yourself!
For you'll find there some book you once treasured,
And simply must read once more,
So you'll find that time amply measured
When you add up your daily score.
You'll find odds that you lost in the scrimmage
That we call life, these days,
And the more that you clean and rummage
The more you'll find waifs and strays.
So, in spite of the wearing and tearing
On nerves and temper and back
You will find there is something inspiring
That more placid seasons lack.
And when the upheaval is over
You've a sort of nostalgic air
Though peace, like a benison hover
O'er rooms that are sweet and fair.
But in spite of some compensation
I'll say with conviction profound
The discomfort outweighs all emotions
When housecleaning time comes round!

Discuss Proposed Hall

At the quarterly meeting of the board of King Memorial library held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. James Rock, study was given to a proposed site of a community hall on Patton street, which is under consideration by King Community Association.

The proposed community centre would incorporate a library as set forth in draft plans, drawn up last year. The board's opinion was that a library should be centrally located in the village. The proposed site on Patton street was considered too far removed from the main thoroughfare.

Fines on children's overdue books are to be discontinued for borrowers under high school age. The board feels that encouraging children in regular reading habits is important. With the co-operation of parents and reminders to the children by librarians, the board feels that children will respond to their responsibility by returning books.

A membership campaign will be started by the board, to enrol new members in the hope of exceeding the membership well above the 100 mark.

Grass Fires
What commenced as insignificant burning of rubbish in two recent instances spread to sizeable grass fires when sparks were carried to areas of long grass. Aurora fire department was called to the Jackson property on Good Friday and to Lester Brown's on King St. E. on Thursday.

At the Humbly-Jackson property 25 neighbors, with the aid of King City fire extinguishers, and the Aurora department, matters were brought under easy control before nearby buildings caught the sparks. Mrs. Lester Brown thought she had planted a rubbish fire in a defined area; it jumped out of control, spreading fiercely through long grass. She called the Aurora fire department and in the meantime Drinkwater Motors had arrived with extinguishers while she and her neighbor, Mrs. Ken Lawson, tried frantically to beat the fringe of flames nearest their homes with brooms. It was touch and go for a while, with the blaze spreading to Dew St. home, to Bowen's garage and to

KITE FLYING CLUB FORMED BY MARRIED COUPLES

A new recreation group exists in the village known as the King City Flying club, composed of four married couples who fly kites. They are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Urquhart, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morrison, residents in the Dew and William streets area.

The idea originated with Marjorie Morrison after Gordon Smith declared himself a champion kite flyer last week. His homemade plastic kite reached a height of over 2,000 feet.

At noon, last Sunday, a competition was launched with the ladies against the gentlemen. Eight kites of various shapes, sizes and colors floated through the air in a mild breeze, with four remaining in the scene for some time. Francis Urquhart's brown paper, two-dimensional craft outlasted the others, keeping to the air for over two hours at a height of 2,000 feet. She won the championship on behalf of the girls.

Hazel Campbell used a red, white and blue box kite type. Pat Smith flew a green cellophane box Fire Fly. Marjorie Morrison used an aluminum Flying Saucer type.

Induct New Lions

Brown's work house.

Conservation authorities say, "Man burns his meadow to kill weeds in the grass and in so doing kills all the organic life and destroys his good top soil. Burning to destroy weeds actually stimulates weed growth, increases water runoff and speeds up soil erosion."

Church Gifts Dedicated

Sunday, April 12, held special significance for the congregation of All Saints' Anglican church when Bishop G. A. Wells, Toronto, dedicated impressive gifts donated to the church. The chimes and amplifying system installed in the church before Christmas, were given by Mr. Stanley Watson of King City to commemorate the life of his departed brother, Mr. Charles Harper Watson.

The beautifully toned bells were played from the organ by Donald Rawlings during the service. The pipe organ was a gift were unable to accept an invitation on that date, so a 2-act shadow skit was enacted by Stan Hunter, Jack Walkington, Eric Abraham and Gordon Orr.

A report on the weekly skating at Aurora arena for district children was given. Village and district children had the privilege of free skating on Saturday evenings for 15 weeks. The highest attendance was 120 and the lowest was 62, with an average of 70 per week. Rink rental was paid for by the club, and 15 cents from each child per night for transportation broke slightly above par on that count.

Dave Drinkwater, 4, was the youngest skater of the season. Several adults accompanied the children to see that they were supervised. "It was an interesting project," said Lion Wib Jennings.

"The young people enjoyed every moment of it and their parents were appreciative," commented another member of the club.

Election night will be held on May 5, following presentation of nominations on April 21, by the nominating committee. The Hydro Choir will come to King again on May 21 under the local Lions' sponsorship.

from the Watson family to the church a few years ago. Donald, who is a theological student at Wycliffe College, Toronto, read the lessons in the absence of the rector, Rev. D. C. H. Mitchell. He was able to assist the bishop who was in charge of the entire service.

Other gifts were also dedicated. Two brass collection plates with a rope edge design and two polished brass altar vases were placed in memory of the late James Patterson by his widow of Stoney Creek and his sister, Miss Eliza Patterson, Hamilton.

Shirley Rawlings and Freda Dent were soloists, assisting the choir.

Picture News from C-I-L

THE TRAVEL TREND this summer will be Coronation-wards for many. This housewife may not be one of those to see London's dramatic celebrations, but she's about to follow the trend in home decoration by giving her walls the dramatic interest of new deep tones—Royal Red, Windsor Blue or any other of the nine special "Coronation Colours" now obtainable in C-I-L's washable, rubber-base paint, "Speed-Easy Satin".

"FIRST AID FOR APPLES" or "a tonic for tomatoes" could describe the work carried out in C-I-L's new soil-testing laboratory at Montreal as a free service to farmers. For sick plants and poor yields are usually the result of a deficiency of one or more essential plant foods in the soil. Chief soil chemist, Jean Leclerc, points out that soils can vary greatly even in one locality, says Chamby County, Quebec has some 30 types.
